Daniela is an Associate in the Fort Lauderdale office with a practice concentration in media and communications law, including defamation and invasion of privacy. She will also focus on business litigation and intellectual property matters. Prior to joining the firm, Daniela served as a law clerk for the Honorable Robin S. Rosenbaum of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit. Previously she served as an Associate for DLD Lawyers with a practice in civil rights, products liability, medical malpractice and catastrophic injury cases in both federal and state court.

She received her Bachelor of Science in Journalism from the University of Florida in 2012, and her writing was published in a number of newspapers. Prior to attending law school, Daniela worked as a freelance reporter for The Miami Herald. She graduated from the Florida International University College of Law in 2015.

While in law school, Daniela interned at the Florida Supreme Court and the Third District Court of Appeal. She also competed in the Monroe E. Price International Media Law Moot Court Programme, and placed third during the international round at Oxford University in Oxford, United Kingdom. Daniela has served as a judge and coach for this same moot court. In addition to being an FIU law school alumna, Daniela has served as an Adjunct Professor teaching a legal writing and research course.

As an active member of the community, Daniela sings in the Master Chorale of South Florida. Each year she raises funds to support the Florida Brain Cancer 5K.
